

Fundraising Commitment and Credit Card Release Form

I understand that by signing up for the 2019 Skechers Performance Los Angeles Marathon through Concern Foundation/Team Concern, I agreed to the terms outlined in the Participant Agreement, Waiver and Release, including the fundraising commitment. I agreed to raise or give a minimum of $1,000.00 (Marathon/Charity Challenge participants) and/or $350.00 (Big 5K participants) to Concern Foundation in addition to any registration fee. I understand that the fundraising minimum is required by the Los Angeles Marathon for Concern's participation as charity partner, and that Concern is obligated to meet this goal as part of the terms of its involvement with the Marathon. If I have not fulfilled my fundraising commitment in accordance with the schedule set forth in the Participant Agreement, I understand I am responsible for the remainder of the balance of the $1,000.00 (or $350 for the 5K) commitment, and authorize Concern Foundation to charge the credit card I provide, unless I offer an alternative payment option to the satisfaction of Concern Foundation.

Note: Concern Foundation will not charge your credit card without advance notice. Very rarely do we charge participants for not meeting their fundraising agreement; this is merely a safeguard to ensure that by utilizing Concern Foundation's resources and charity registration slots, participants will make a genuine effort to raise money for charity. If you work with Concern to create and execute a personalized fundraising strategy, and communicate your efforts with us, you will raise money. As long we see your commitment to supporting cancer research, you will not be billed!
